The Carmelite Congregation

IN MALABAR.

This mighty tree whose branches spread today over all Malabar, was but a tender sapling in the early years of the last century. Very Rev. Fathers Thomas (Palakal) and Thomas (Porukara), model priests of virtue and learning, entertained the divinely inspired idea of starting religious life in Malabar and began to work with ecclesiastical approbation for the realisation of this cherished project. Very Rev. Father Cyriac Elias (Chavara), worthy disciple of Fr. Thomas Palakal, soon after joined the founders in their noble and laudable enterprise. In 1831 these holy priests with the blessing of Dr. Maurelius Stabilini put up a house at the top of a small hill in Mannanam, near Kottayam in Travancore.

The first growth was slow but steady and the two founders Thomas Palakal and Thomas Porukara died, holy priests as they had lived, and went up to second from above the labours of their successor, Fr. Cyriac Elias, who eventually became the head of the new religious institute.

On 8th December 1855, Feast of the Immaculate Conception, Fr. Cyriac Elias made his profession before the Deputy of the Most Rev. Bernardine, Vicar Apostolic of Verapoly; and then, in his capacity as Prior, received the profession of ten of his companions. Thus the efforts of a quarter of a century saw the Carmelite Congregation canonically approved and established.

Under the patronage and guidance of the Local Ordinary and the fostering care and direction of the Prior, Fr. Cyriac Elias, the new community, built on a hill, radiated in all directions. Soon in the different parts of Malabar, new houses sprang up, bearing witness to the abundance of life and vigour in the young community.

The zeal and devotion of the monks under Fr. Cyriac Elias was felt everywhere. Their tireless apostolic work, either to stem and arrest the spread of the Rocosian schism or to win back its victims to the fold of Christ, drew from H. H. Pius IX a rescript of thanks and encouragement.

The rules and constitutions of the Congregation, adapted from those of the Carmelite Order with modifications to suit the Rite and special needs of the country, were approved on January 1, 1885 by the Holy See for a trial period of six years, and again in 1893 for a similar period with extension, and in May 1906 were approved in prepetuum.

When in 1887 the Syro-Malabar church was divided into the Vicariates Apostolic of Trichur and Kottayam, the Sacred Congregation of the Propagation of Faith, in order to keep the unity of the Carmelite Congregation, reserved to itself the right of supervision over it and was pleased to entrust it to His Excellency Mgr. A. Ajuti, the Delegate Apostolic in the East Indies, who thus became its Prior General and effected many improvements. On the retirement of that high dignitary of the Church, His Eminence Cardinal Simeoni, Prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Propagation of Faith, acted as Prior General, till the appointment of Mgr. L. M. Zaleski in 1892 as Delegate Apostolic. The duties of Prior General then devolved on the new Delegate. In 1893 Very Rev. Fr. Bernard of Jesus O. C. D. (afterwards Archbishop of Verapoly) was appointed as the Prior General ad tempus by a special decree of the Sacred Congregation. A Prior General, elected from the Congregation, assisted by four Councillors called "Definitors General", is now at the head of the administration.

The Congregation is both contemplative and active. Its founders included in their programme of work the manifold forms of activities that would contribute to the spiritual, intellectual and social uplift of India as a whole and of Malabar in particular. Administration of the Sacraments, preaching the word of God, giving retreats and missions, conversion of heretics, schismatics and infidels, propagation and defence of the Catholic Faith by means of books, magazines and newspapers, and imparting of education, both ecclesiastical and secular — all these are fields of activity which are mapped out for the Congregation.

The sphere of activities has gradually spread from Travancore to the Cochin State, British Malabar, and South Canara. Many and varied are the praises and encomiums, lavished on the Congregation for its works and merits from all quarters. "The whole of catholic as well as non-catholic Malabar," says the New Leader, "owes a deep debt of gratitude to this institution: the non-catholics for the education it has imparted to them and for the social uplift which its disinterested labours were instrumental to; the Catholics in general for the decisive lead it took in stemming the tide of the furious Rocosian and Melusian schisms, when they threatened to overthrow the very foundation of the apostolic church of Malabar . . . ."

Prior General's House, erected at Ernakulam near the South Ry. Station, is the seat of the Curia of the Congregation. The new house was inaugurated on September 8, 1941.
